

ENRIGHT TO APPOINT 500 NEW POLICEMEN

Board of Estimate Also Authorizes Creation of Ten More Captaincies.

BRINGS FORCE TO 11,000

Two of Men Slat for Promotion Officers of Lieutenants Association.

Ten additional captains and 500 more patrolmen for the Police Department were authorized yesterday by the Board of Estimate.

There were no protests, although Leonard M. Wallstein, counsel for the good government committee of the Citizens Union, said in a statement on Thursday that the reasons given by Commissioner Enright for asking for additional captains was all "hunk." He asserted that the civil service list for promotion to captain expired on Wednesday. On this list are two officers of the Police Lieutenants Benevolent Association, of which Commissioner Enright was president at the time of his appointment to the commission.

Commissioner Enright will replace nine acting captains in charge of branch detective bureaus. The additional captain will be assigned to the Rockaway Beach station.

Money for the additional patrolmen will be taken from the fund for special policemen put in the 1919 budget. The appointments will be taken from the civil service list.

"May I appoint these men to-morrow?" asked Commissioner Enright.

"You can appoint them whenever you like," said the Mayor.

The additions to the police force will increase it to 11,000.

"I don't believe in economy when it comes to the Police, Fire, Charity or Health departments," said Mayor Hylan.

There was another postponement of action on the proposed connection between the Fulton street elevated railroad and the Fourth avenue subway at Ashland place, Brooklyn.

Unofficially it was learned at Police Headquarters last night that Commissioner Enright would promote the following lieutenants to captains within a few days:

George L. Sullivan, 51, 247 West Twenty-fourth street. Appointed patrolman October 13, 1908; sergeant, December 27, 1902; lieutenant, December 7, 1905.

Joseph F. McMahon, 50, Llanerch road, St. Albans, Queens. Patrolman, September 22, 1898; sergeant, November 11, 1902; lieutenant, December 20, 1905.

Thomas M. Fay, 46, 91 Seventy-third street, Brooklyn. Appointed January 9, 1897; sergeant, September 1, 1903; lieutenant, December 7, 1905.

John Duane, 54, Appointed September 20, 1892; sergeant, November 25, 1902; lieutenant, January 26, 1907.

Philip F. Clifford, 52, 103 Edsall avenue, Glenside, Queens. Appointed February 25, 1896; sergeant, February 4, 1902; lieutenant, May 5, 1906.

Charles James, 52, 223 Argyle road, Brooklyn. Appointed October 21, 1894; sergeant, January 25, 1903; lieutenant, December 7, 1905.

Samuel G. Bolton, 50, 1248 Herschell street, the Bronx. Appointed October 12, 1891; sergeant, September 24, 1902; lieutenant, December 7, 1905.

William T. Davis, 49, 823 Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn. Appointed December 15, 1896; sergeant, December 27, 1902; lieutenant, December 7, 1905.

Lieut. Patrick J. Randle, 50, 146 Seventh avenue, White Plains, Queens. Appointed March 5, 1894; sergeant, December 24, 1902; lieutenant, November 8, 1905.

No one on the eligible list is named except James E. Mulligan of 233 West Nineteenth street, whose name appears seventh on the list. Lieut. James is secretary of the Lieutenants Benevolent Association and Lieut. Davis is treasurer of the same organization.

BRITISH ATTACHES HONORED.

Reading Decorates War Mission Aids in City.

Lord Reading, the British Ambassador, yesterday conducted an investiture of the Order of the British Empire for attachés of British war missions in this country.

On behalf of King George the diplomat decorated as officers of the order, E. J. Barr of the Ministry of Shipping and L. M. Fitts of the Wheat Export Company, while membership decorations were conferred upon Alder Mills and Miss Amelia Poterman of the Shipping and Wheat Export board, respectively.

The ceremony marked the last public function in the offices of the British Bureau of Information, which will terminate to-day services, which have been continuous since the early days of the war.

Miss Knowles Located.

Guelph, Ontario, April 25.—Miss Mollie Knowles, who mysteriously disappeared from Guelph last Saturday, has been located. Word as to her safety reached Mrs. W. O. Storey, wife of Admiral Storey, whom she was visiting, in the form of a telegram yesterday from a woman whose Christian Association at Buffalo stating she was there.

THE BOBBY-MERRILL COMPANY, PUBLISHERS

PUBLISHERS TO URGE POSTAL RATE PROBE

Elect T. P. Glass of Birmingham President.

The thirty-third annual meeting of the American Publishers Association, which has been holding sessions in the Waldorf-Astoria since Wednesday, closed yesterday afternoon with the election of officers for the coming year.

T. P. Glass of the Birmingham News, president; George McAneny of the New York Times, president-elect; John B. Ryan of the Richmond News-Leader, secretary; and Edward P. Call of the New York Journal of Commerce, treasurer.

The morning session was given over to a discussion of the news print situation and the report of the association's paper committee on the Publishers Paper Company, a corporation organized to bring additional paper into the American market during the shortage, which became serious in 1917.

At the afternoon session a report of the committee on postal rates, headed by George McAneny, was considered, and resolutions were adopted urging upon Congress the repeal or suspension of the increased rates on second class matter established in 1917, and the appointment of an expert commission to investigate the whole problem of newspaper postal rates before any further action is taken. The postal committee of the association was asked to bring the matter to the attention of members of the incoming Congress.

A committee was also appointed to investigate newspaper audits of circulation and to report on the attitude to be taken by the association.

POLICE SPIRIT BEST EVER, SAYS HYLAN

Mayor Answers His Critics and Once More Scores the Moneybund.

Declaring that the morale and discipline of the Police Department had never been so good, Mayor Hylan again came to the defense of that department yesterday. Few of the lives of the "so-called good government propagandists," the Mayor asserted, could be compared with way that the great majority of police officers.

The defense was in reply to a statement of the Good Government Bureau yesterday citing many cases where patrolmen found guilty of violating the rules of the department were let off with short probationary periods, whereas former Commissioner Woods was in the habit of inflicting fines for infractions of discipline.

Writing to Deputy Commissioner Leach, who is in charge of the discipline of the department, Mayor Hylan said:

"I notice that the so-called good government propagandists are again busy. These paper organizations, such as the so-called Good Government Bureau, Municipal Research Bureau and similar organizations, which are kept alive by the contributions from the Rockefeller interests, the food, ice and coal profiteers and disappointed office seekers and men who want the government of the city run in a way that will not interfere with their exploitation of the people, are abusing and vilifying those who are endeavoring to faithfully serve the people of the city."

"Since Police Commissioner Enright has had charge of the Police Department you have had entire supervision over the trials of police officers charged with violating the rules of the department, and I know you will continue to make the same good record in your police work as you did as a city magistrate."

"Your policy of showing the first offender consideration and giving no quarter to the vicious offender against the law, and your record for justice and honesty of purpose in the interest of the people, cannot be justly criticized."

"Your policy of placing police officers who have violated the rules of the Police Department on probation, which is their first offense is absolutely sound, and this procedure will be approved by all honest and fair thinking people."

"Your practice of dealing severely with the persistent offender of the police rules is likewise sound."

"If we could look behind the scenes and see the lives of these so-called good government propagandists few of them could compare with the lives of the great majority of police officers in this city."

"During the war period no class of men in this country performed more valuable and patriotic service than the officers and men of the Police Department."

"The valuable services they gave in the many Liberty Loan drives, their efficient service in taking charge of and operating the Staten Island ferryboats, operating the seagoing tugs which towed the barges to sea and the rescue and refuge of the city to the dumps thereby safeguarding the health of the community, are to be highly commended."

"If and to observe that the morale and discipline of the force are better today than ever before. It is true, even though the police are now being treated by the heads of the department with fairness and justice. This theory, of course, does not jibe with that of the moneybund crowd and others who have failed to use this administration for their private gain."

Subway Train Kills Man.

The body of a man which was so crushed as to leave no trace of his identity was taken to the West Thirty-seventh street police station yesterday from the southbound tracks of the Times Square subway stop.

Motorman Harry Buck said he saw the man leap in front of the train as he was drawing into the station, but he could not prevent the accident.

BULL PROVES MODEL
GUEST AT WALDORF

Gets Table of Honor Beside 30 Humans at Luncheon and Manners Are Impeccable.

INVITED, DIDN'T HORN IN

Financial Sensation, $60,000 Animal, Preserved His Well Bred Air Throughout.

Financial Sensation, the $60,000 bull that ran up from its country home in West Chester, Pa., this week to boom the Milk Show, stamped its delicately manicured hoof on the floor of its apartment at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory and cast an annoyed look at Nelson, its faithful and attached valet.

"Nelson!" it bellowed, if the best bred bull in the world, as its twelve page printed pedigree calls him, can be said to believe "Nelson!"

"Yes!" hastily responded the valet, dropping the milk handkerchief with which he had been polishing Financial Sensation's rich brown coat. "What is it, sir?"

"There are two grain seeds on my shoulder. Brush them off. What would the guests at the Waldorf-Astoria think if they saw me walking through the back alley with grain seeds on my shoulder? Do you expect me to ask the valet of the Waldorf to complete my toilet after I get there?"

"Really?" Sensation complained, as Nelson hurried to do his bidding, "sometimes I am tempted to forget that I am a gentleman and give my man a good pebbles but—but, however, one must remember that the war has changed everything; I am not the only member of the lion ton who misses the service money once bought; and Nelson, despite his moments of carelessness, has been a fairly loyal attendant since the days when I was a little business calf. But this luncheon at the Waldorf, at which I am to be guest of honor, is a special occasion, and Nelson should understand that I am anxious to look especially well."

Bull Seeks Limousine.

"Limousine at the door, sir," a liveried Milk Show lackey informed Financial Sensation, with a deferential bow. The bull, however, dismissed the car with a flick of the tail, deciding that the would walk to the Waldorf, the day being so fine. Thirty-fourth street was crowded yesterday with school children and others hastening to the armory to learn the advantages of milk and cheese as foods, and Fancy, as intimates call the king of the bovine race in free and easy moments, was the observed of all observers as it sauntered along accompanied by its man Nelson.

Oscar Techirky, urban major domo of the hotel, was waiting at the south entrance to receive the distinguished guest. Greatly to the surprise of the latter Oscar seemed rather flustered, but he quickly recovered his poise and told by his valet, Police Lieut. Jedlika of the Newtown precinct. Mrs. Jedlika and their six months old daughter, Evelyn, will join Capt. Jedlika in Prague.

Capt. Jedlika was reported, when former Congressman Denis O'Leary appointed him to West Point in 1914. He was graduated in 1917.

WARRIORS TO-NIGHT

About 700 Newspaper Men to Gather at Midnight Feast.

New York newspaper men who did not go to the war will entertain those who did go with a dinner at the Hotel Commodore to-night at midnight. It is expected that about 700 men will attend the feast, which will begin at midnight. Irvin S. Cobb was to have been toastmaster, but he notified the committee in charge last night that he is ill and would be unable to leave his home. Major Bozeman Bulger of the 365th Infantry, formerly a sporting writer on the Evening World, will act in Mr. Cobb's stead.

The guests will include Gov. Smith, Read Admiral James H. Glennon, commander of the Third Naval District; Major-Gen. David C. Shanks, commander of the port of debarkation; Major-Gen. 15 HEROIC ACTS WIN
CARNEGIE AWARDS

Girl Who Saved Snake Bitten Preacher Mentioned—Angolia, N. Y., Man Cited.

Providence, April 25.—Fifteen acts of heroism were recognized by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission at its meeting here to-day. In two cases silver medals were awarded; in thirteen cases bronze medals. Six of the heroes lost their lives, and to the dependents of two of these pensions aggregating $1,430 a year were granted. The dependents of three of the others who lost their lives the sum of $1,500 was granted to be applied as the commission may see fit.

In addition to these money grants, in nine cases awards aggregating $5,500 were made for other worthy purposes. Payments in the one-sum cases will be made until the beneficiaries' plans for the use of the awards have been approved by the commission.

Among the awards were bronze medals to the following:

Frances H. Holstein, Urbana, Ill., saved Benjamin W. Soper, clergyman, from death from snake bite at Coconut Grove, Fla., February 13, 1918. Miss Holstein, after Soper had protested, sucked the venom from the wound in Mr. Soper's ankle.

Theodore Miller, Angolia, N. Y., crossing watchman, saved Francis J. Anselmi, aged four, from being killed by a train, August 12, 1917.

Miss E. Smith, aged 15, of Camden, N. J., died attempting to save Anna M. Miskelley from drowning August 9, 1918. Medal to her mother.

John Baranowski, Hasleton, Pa., died attempting to save Anthony J. Zlotnick from drowning at Hasleton, Pa., July 21, 1918.

A silver medal was awarded to Arthur E. Fitch, Cambridge, Mass., who died in attempting to save Ruth F. Oakes from being killed by a train at Medford, Mass., November 15, 1918. Medal and award went to his widow and the death benefits to his mother.

BULLET HALTS DIVORCE TRIAL

Wife Shoots "Lie," Shoots Husband in Mouth.

Chicago, April 25.—A divorce case in Judge Broderick court came to a dramatic close this afternoon when Mrs. Elmer R. Simpson shot her husband, who was on the witness stand, through the mouth, inflicting a probably fatal wound.

Simpson was testifying quietly. Suddenly his wife leaped to her feet.

"That's a lie," she cried, and fired. Simpson crumpled up in the chair, blood oozing from his mouth. Mrs. Simpson was arrested and court adjourned.

INSURANCE AGENT IS VICTOR.

Albert Turner Gets $13,000 Verdict for Back Commissions.

A case of unusual interest in the insurance field, in which Albert Turner of Chappaqua sued the North Western Mutual Life Insurance Company for back commissions, resulted yesterday in a verdict for the plaintiff in the Supreme Court at White Plains. Under the sealed verdict which the jury handed Justice Keogh Mr. Turner will receive back commissions of more than $13,000 and the accrued interest will bring the amount to nearly $17,000.

Mr. Turner was on the stand for three days and a half, being the only witness called by his attorneys. He was in the employ of the company up to 1914, when the company terminated his contract. He brought suit for commissions ranging over a period of years, which he claimed were due him.

Justice Keogh told the jury the question at issue was whether the company had terminated Mr. Turner's contract in good or bad faith.

How the People View
The New Peace League

The out-and-out opponents of the League of Nations covenant apparently have not been won over by the amendments adopted in Paris to meet their objections. The New York Tribune (Rep.) finds the "denatured covenant" powerless for either good or evil, while the New York Evening Sun (Ind.) goes further and declares that "it is both an all-round invasion of sovereignty and at the same time impotent for the enforcement of peace."

In many quarters, however, it is thought that the recognition of the Monroe Doctrine and other changes "will win for it many votes and may prove sufficient to secure its ratification" by the Senate, to quote the Republican Philadelphia Press.

It adds that the credit for these changes is due to the constructive criticism of such Republicans as Mr. Taft, Mr. Knox, Mr. Lodge, and Mr. Root.

Be sure and read THE LITERARY DIGEST this week. All angles of public opinion on the League of Nations covenant are presented in the leading article. Other subjects that will interest the American people are:
